PROPERTY TAXATION IN THE STATE OF COLORADO

Colorado property taxes provide revenue for local government. The state does not impose a levy for statewide use, although by law it could do so. A large share of property tax revenue goes to support the state's public schools. County government claims the next largest share, followed by special districts and municipal governments.

The authority for property taxation in Colorado lies in Article X of the State Constitution, which states that the laws shall secure just and equalized valuations for assessment of all real and personal property not specifically exempt from taxation. Title 39, Articles 1 through 13, Colorado Revised Statutes contains specific laws related to property taxation.

THE PROCESS OF PROPERTY TAXATION

The county assessor is responsible for assessment of all property within the county. By August 10 of each year, the assessor must submit an "Abstract of Assessment" to the Property Tax Administrator which lists all property valuations for the county by class and subclass for the current year. In September the State Board of Equilization reviews the abstracts of all counties and certifies them. This abstract then becomes the basis for the tax roll, which the assessor sends to the county treasurer before January 1.

In the autumn, each municipality, school board, special district and board of county commissioners holds open meetings to determine the budget for the coming year. They must each determine a levy for their district by dividing the budget of each district by the total assessed value for that district. The resulting figure is called the mill levy.

$$\frac{\text{Property Tax Revenue Required}}{\text{Total Assessed Value of the District}} = \text{Mill Levy}$$

The taxing jurisdictions then certify their levies to the county commissioners. In some cases, the budget is determined by a special election. There are statutory limitations to increases in the budgets of taxing jurisdictions.

Everyone lives in a county and within a school district; therefore, there will be at least two mill levies on each tax bill. Beyond this, there are many variations among levies in different tax areas. One taxpayer, for example, may live within a city, a fire protection district, a recreation district, and a sanitation district. There will be a mill levy on his tax bill for each of these services. Another taxpayer may live in an unincorporated area with a volunteer fire department, but his area may be in a pest control district and have a cemetery which is maintained through a cemetary district. His tax bill will reflect different mill levies from the city dweller.

All of the mill levies on a taxpayer's statement will be totalled. The total mill levy, multiplied by the assessed value of the taxpayer's property, determines the amount to be paid to the county treasurer.

The assessed valuation of a property multiplied by the mill levy equals the amount of tax due on the property.

DIVISION OF PROPERTY TAXATION

The Division of Property Taxation, under the leadership of the Property Tax Administrator, coordinates and administers the implementation of property tax legislation throughout the 63 counties. It is the Division's responsibility to promote equilization of property valuation throughout the state. The Property Tax Administrator and the Division of Property Taxation are subject to the supervision and control of the State Board of Equalization.

Sections of the Division and their responsibilities include:

Administration:

- Review and determination of abatement petitions;
- Publication of the annual report and the yearly report to the State Board of Equalization;
- Investigation of and response to taxpayer complaints;
- Legislative impact studies;
- Support for the State Board of Equalization in the conduct of their statutory duties;
- Providing technical assistance to assessors on computerization of the assessment process.

Aid and Assistance

- Providing field staff, each of whom has a specific area of expertise and works closely with assessors in those specialized areas towards the administration of property tax law;
- Assistance to the State Board of Equalization by providing contracted reappraisal assistance personnel to counties ordered to reappraise one or several classes of property;
- Field studies.

Education

- Conducting an annual school for assessors (Law Seminar) and regional assessment education programs for assessors and their staffs throughout the year;
- Providing an orientation school for new assessors;
- Providing special purpose seminars for assessors and their staffs to update appraisal techniques and to address special needs in their counties.

Exemptions

- Examination of all applications for exemptions from property taxation for schools, strictly charitable organizations, and property for religious worship;

- Providing an annual report of all continued exemptions;
- The hearing of protests and the defense of appeals pertaining to exemptions from property taxation;
- Assistance to counties and taxpayers with inquiries on exemptions from property taxation.

Research and Development

- Publication of manuals for the assessor's use;
- Review and approval of all forms used by assessors;
- Research of data for such purposes as capitalization rates, manuals, replacement cost factors, and studies specifically requested by assessors;
- Providing consultant services, at the assessors request, on such administrative functions as reorganization, mapping and data processing, at the assessor's request;
- Providing consultant services in the appraisal of highly specialized and complex properties;
- Implementation of a statewide public relations and information program in cooperation with assessors;
- Data processing.

State Assessed Properties

- Valuation and apportionment of all public utilities and rail transportation properties doing business in Colorado;
- Assistance to the counties and the taxpayers with inquiries on the assessment of utilities and rail transportation properties;
- The hearing of protests and the defense of appeals pertaining to utilities and rail transportation properties.

HOW COLORADO VALUES PROPERTY FOR AD VALOREM TAXATION

Colorado assessors must value property by considering the three approaches to appraisal: cost, market and income. There are three exceptions to this requirement. Residential property is valued only by the cost and market approaches. Agricultural property is valued solely on the earning or productive capacity of the land. Valuation of producing mines and producing oil and gas is based on production.

Most property is assessed at 29% of actual value. Residential property is assessed at 21% of actual value. Producing mines and oil and gas leaseholds are assessed at a portion of annual production.

Exemptions from property taxation is mandated for the following classes of property:

> "Household furnishing and personal effects which are not used for the production of income at any time; inventories of merchandise and materials and supplies which are held for consumption by a business or are held primarily for sale; Livestock, agricultural and livestock products, and agricultural equipment used on the farm or ranch in the production of agricultural products." Constitution of Colorado, Article X, Section 3(1)(c).

Colorado values property under a base year concept. The 1977 level went into effect in 1983. In 1987, the 1985 level will be implemented. Thereafter, the base year will change every two years. Currently, exceptions to the base year include producing mines, oil and gas, public utilities, agricultural land, and producing coal mines. Beginning in 1987, all property will come under the base year.

The General Assembly of Colorado funds each year a study of all classes of property in each county for compliance with the Statutes. When the study shows that an assessor did not comply in one or more areas, the State Board of Equalization orders a reappraisal to be done the following year. If the reappraisal confirms the noncompliance, the county must reimburse the State for the reappraisal cost. In addition, the county must repay the State for any excess payment resulting from noncompliance and made to school districts within the county.
